THE BIG FIGHT IS ON

Candidates Are Hustling For County Offices.

QUITE A GOODLY LIST ALREADY

More Will Announce Themselves As the Days Go By—Republicans Who Want to Serve the Dear, Good Public—This City Liberally Represented, With More to Follow.

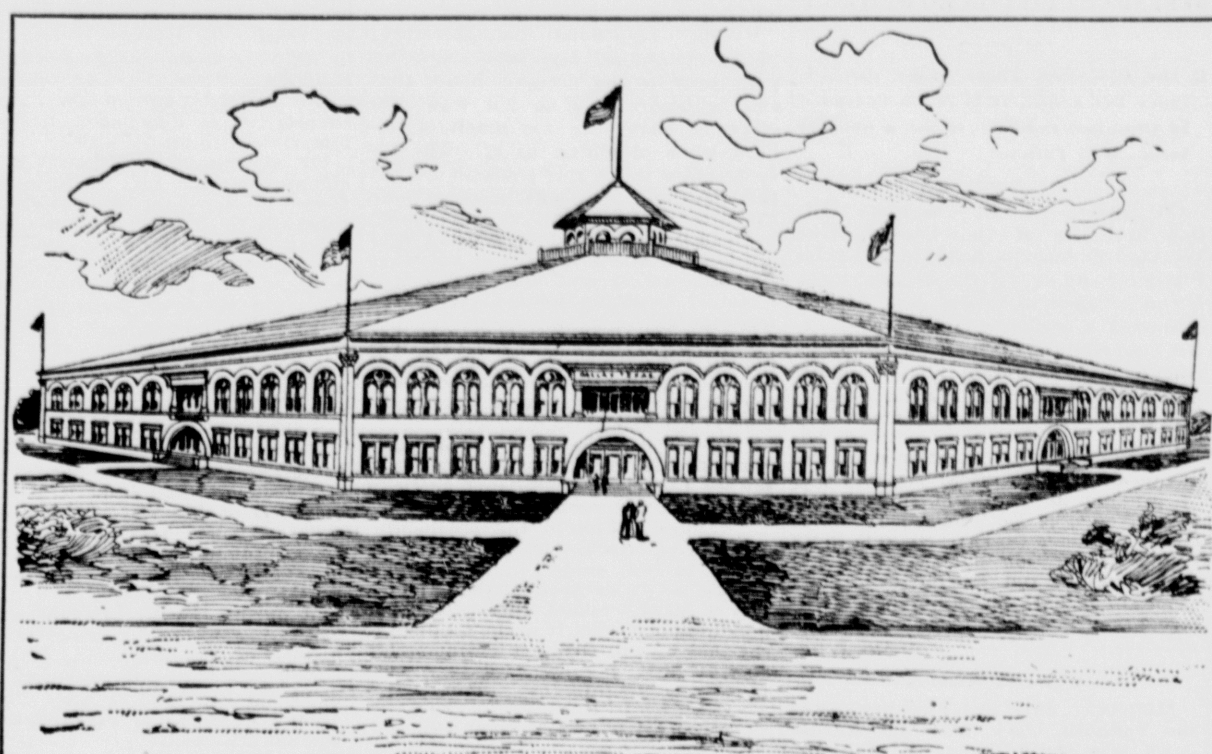

The Columbiana county Republican who can not step out and demand that public attention be directed toward his canvass at least nine months before the primaries, had best retire from the field for he can rest assured his opponents are out and working, spending time and money in an effort to interest leading members of the party in their cause.

The time has passed when the office sought the man. Now the man chases around after the office. If there ever was a day when the candidate was too shy to move out of his home and had to be chased to the privacy of his chamber before he could be made to serve the public, it has passed into a beyond as misty and murky as the hills of Madison township. Now he must hustle. That is the only word which can be applied to the action with understanding. The candidate must rise up early in the morn, drive untold distances in sunshine and shower, meeting men he never heard of before, and endeavoring to impress them with the necessity of electing him to office. It means months of hard work, with the chances against him for victory, a time when he knows not whether his friends will sell him out to the next candidate who comes along or will stand by him until the last vote is counted. It is a season of hardship attended often by inconvenience and suffering, a period when he forgets social ties and family existence, remembering only that he is a candidate and must work hard if he would win. This applies generally to six months before election, but more particularly to the last few months. Then the actual work is done, but the plans are laid long before, and that is what the candidates are doing now.

Among the most important places to be filled next year is the office of recorder. The fees are good and there is plenty of business. A man versed in the ordinary work of everyday business life can get along very well in the office, and be worth a little money when his time is out, provided he does not dive too deep into the dissipation of Lisbon life. Among the candidates already announced are E. M. Crosser, of this city; Professor Todd, of Wellsville; Johnson, of Elk Run; Early, of Fairfield; Brown, of Wayne, and Thomas, of Butler. Among those who are thought to be quietly waiting for an opportune moment to announce their candidacy are McQueen, of Madison, and Marietta, of Salineville. While there may be other patriots looking for the job, it is thought there will be no more prominent candidates than those mentioned above. All are hard workers, and the man who leads on election day will have won the prize because he fought hardest for it.

Clerk Ed King, one of the most popular officials that ever straddled a tripod in the courthouse, retires next year, and his place will be filled by one of many aspirants. The list already contains the names of Bussell, of Salineville; McMillen, of Salem, and McNutt, of Wellsville. But that is not all. Another, and perhaps the most formidable of the lot, is taking the advice of his friends and may be in the battle to his neck before the winter has fairly come. He has a prosperous business and does not like to leave it, but he has mingled in politics for a long time, and his friends are anxious to see him rewarded.

The next prosecutor, he who succeeds Mr. Speaker, must take off his coat and work. A. H. Clark, the city solicitor, is popularly credited with an ambition in that direction, and his friends know him well enough to realize how hard he will use his extensive acquaintance throughout the county if he enters the battle in earnest. Coming from East Liverpool, he will have a good start, but in this he will not be far in advance of Charley Boone, the active little lawyer from Salem, who enjoys nothing better than a hot political fight. He has been promised support in all parts of the county because of his active work in the past, and he will be able to command a goodly number of hard workers when the right time comes. Mr. Martin, whose friends have long known him as "Jumbo," is another formidable candidate. Living in the county seat, and enjoying, or it is to be hoped he enjoys it, a wide acquaintance, he will make a warm fight. Posted politicians say these three are the only probable candidates for prosecutor.

The battle royal will be fought for the solitary vacant place on the board of commissioners, and for this, the least remunerative office on the list, there will be a host of aspirants. Already the din of battle is heard as they ride over the county, marshalling old friends and making new acquaintances in the hope of carrying away the plum. John Smith, the well known carpenter of this city, is among the foremost, and Chris Bowman, of Elk Run, will again be in the field. T. O. Timmons is also mentioned among the number, and William Hostetter, the well known Lisbon politician, is expected to appear. Eaden Reeder, who made a good impression this year before he was compelled by the death of his mother to withdraw, will also be in line, or at least his friends here will endeavor to have him come out.

The earnestness with which these candidates enter the fight early in the season is clearly shown by the fact that some are already going the rounds and becoming familiar with the men who work at primaries. Two of them were here this week calling on a prominent member of the party, and endeavoring to enlist his sympathy in their cause, while many more will come before the year is over.

NEEDS A NEW ORDINANCE.

Reform Can Not Be Brought About With the Old One.

"The city can never reform the saloons and enforce strict regulations as to closing and Sunday selling until there is a new ordinance," said an attorney today. "While the courts have never passed upon the legality of the ordinance now in force there is reason to believe that it is illegal, and to test it may cost a deal of money. If this thing is to be reformed council should begin at the ground, and build up. The three decisions given by Judge Billingsley within a month should be convincing testimony that a new law is needed."

ISAAC WALTERS WILL SUE.

He Will Give the City Only One More Chance to Arbitrate.

Isaac Walters, who was struck by a coaster on Broadway and badly hurt last winter, will give the city another chance to compromise, and if it is not accepted he will sue. His eyes were ruined by the blow he received on the nose, and his back has become so weak he cannot work. P. M. Smith, who has charge of the matter, told him that he has a good case, and a petition will soon be filed if council does not pay reasonable damages.

ALL DEAD.

The Proposed Railroad Extensions Are Only a Flash.

From authority which ought to know comes the statement today that the much talked of railroad extensions over the county are only a flash in the pan, and nothing will come of them this year. That survey by the Lisbon tin mill was only for a coal road to supply them with coal, and the Pittsburgh, Marion & Chicago extension was nothing more than a story for publication.

By the Car Load.

The Thompson and Goodwin potteries are packing a car load of ware today for shipment to Mobile, and another will be sent to Boston in a few days. The Thompson pottery is on with a full force of men, but little work is being done at Goodwin's. There is a general feeling of trade picking up, but big effects have not yet been seen. The first pay will be next Saturday.

PROTEST AND PROMISE

But Nothing Came of the Little Occurrence.

STREETS MUST BE CLEANED

Business Men Said So to Councilmen and They Were Promised a Sweeper, But None Came and the City is Filthy—An Indignation Meeting Discussed.

There will be a monster indignation meeting in this town some of these days if the streets are not cleaned and kept in the right and proper condition.

The business men are mad. It is not a little superficial mad on the surface, but one of those cutting, lingering attacks which sink deep into the soul and rattle there because of some great wrong or injury. It is that brand of anger which invariably brings results, and these results will soon be visible if some effort is not soon made for the cleaning of the streets. The anger dates back many months but the feeling which now prevails is no older than three weeks where a committee of merchants called upon a number of councilmen, and with all the meekness they could muster under the circumstances asked that something be done toward cleaning the streets. They pointed out the injustice of the heavy taxes they pay without any return in what they most need. The ground was gone carefully over, and the councilmen promised to do what was asked. That was three weeks ago, and the streets are still as dirty as ever. Council has held two meetings, and nothing has been done. The matter has not been mentioned except in a casual way, and there is no improvement in the streets.

"The city government owes this place a street sweeper and enough men to operate it," said a prominent business man this morning. "Look out there in the Diamond. Where can you find a filthier business center in a live, enterprising city? Nowhere. I'll guarantee, for I have been in a few, and never saw anything like it. Why old vegetable matter is allowed to lay there without a protest except from people who can't longer stand the smell. It is an outrage and a disgrace. The streets should be cleaned at least three times a week instead of one time every three weeks, and it wouldn't hurt if they were cleaned every day. Business men pay heavy taxes, and they want some return for them. A street sweeper is an absolute necessity, and there is no excuse for council if one is not purchased without unnecessary delay."

If it is the duty of the health authorities to keep decaying vegetable matter off the streets they can find it in abundance by looking around.

PROPER RECOGNITION.

Christian Endeavor Editors Will Form a State Association.

When in Boston attending the Christian Endeavor convention, Frank H. Croxall represented the society paper with which he was connected when a resident of Denver, and now carries around with him a mighty kick which will likely result in the formation of a society of state papers of the association. At Cleveland a year ago the press representatives were treated royally, and every convenience that would help them along was at hand. The dailies were also given every attention, and the Endeavor editors went home more than delighted. Not so it Boston. There the individual who had the press arrangements in charge looked only to the care of the big daily newspapers, and left the others to shift for themselves. When the printed slips of set speeches were passed around the dailies got them, and if there happened to be any left over the other newspaper man had the privilege of taking them. This caused such a feeling that the state men were called together, and in an informal indignation meeting it was virtually decided to form an organization of state papers, and fight for their rights at the next convention. They believe the great attendance at the Boston meeting was largely due to state papers, and in consequence they want proper recognition. Mr. Croxall is one of the leaders in the movement.

LIVERPOOL LITIGATION.

Some Cases go to Lisbon—Court Did Not Adjourn.

Special to NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, July 25.—Court adjourned today until next Monday when it will again convene for the disposition of cases. The final adjournment will be made Aug. 5.

The United Presbyterian congregation of this place were today given permission to encumber the church for $1,500, the money to be used in the erection of a parsonage.

The case of W. E. Cooper against John Rinehart for $11.65 was appealed from the court of Squire Rose today.

The Pope Manufacturing company took judgment today against D. R. Spahr, of Wellsville, for $1,131.35 the amount of a promissory note.

It Is Not All Peaches and Cream With Salesmen.

"The man who thinks it is easy to sell crockery should try the road a few days," said a well-known salesman. "If any traveler happened to be a Democrat when he started out he soon became a Republican at heart, for then he has seen how the Democrats tried to take the bread out of his mouth. Even on the new basis it is hard to sell. I can't understand how so much Liverpool ware is sold with the competition there is to meet, and I tell you the boys who carry grips deserve a lot more credit than what they get for keeping the potteries going."

AT THE RACES.

Many Liverpool People See the Fun at Steubenville.

The bicycle races at Steubenville attracted a large crowd from this city, half a hundred wheelmen using their machines to make the trip this morning. The railroad carried a large number, and the Olivette had its full quota. Mayor Gilbert and Clerk Hanley were among the men who made the pilgrimage. It is estimated that the races cost East Liverpool people $1,000, the greater part of which might have been spent in this city if it had a race meet. Mayor Gilbert telephoned Chief Gill this morning that there were 90,000 people in Steubenville.

A QUEER TRIAL.

The Ice Company After a Bill For Congealed Water.

The trial of the suit of the ice company against John K. Bradshaw made amusement in the court of Squire Morley this morning. There were no attorneys present, and amusing incidents made it enjoyable for the spectators. The evidence developed that decorators at the West End pottery wanted ice water, and they were to pay for it by chipping in 10 cents a piece each day. The chipping in process seemed to be a dead letter, and the company held Bradshaw for the amount.

FOUR PRISONERS GONE

They Unscrewed the Hinges on the Jail Door

AT THE HOUR OF MIDNIGHT

Terry Carman, Cyrus Hunsleman, George Brown and William Hastings the Quartette—Somebody Provided a Monkey Wrench For the Work—A Saw Discovered.

"Empty is the cooler; prisoner's gone." So sang his honor from the city hall songster which contains this revised version of the erstwhile famous ditty, this morning.

It sounded commonplace enough because prisoners frequently leave in a hurry. This time four of them took sudden departures for unknown locations.

When Chief Gill left city hall to seek his humble couch at five minutes to 12 o'clock last night there were four prisoners in the bastille. One was Terry Carman, who owed $20.20 for assaulting Mrs. Frank Fowler. Another was William Hastings, the Beaver boy who jumped a freight train and needed $6.60 to settle his bill with the mayor. Cyrus Hunsleman was a third, who owed $8.60 for being a plain drunk, and George Brown was arrested and heavily fined for trying to break up housekeeping while drunk on July 4. All except Brown had occupied apartments at city hall for several days. Brown had been captured only the day previous.

When Officers Earle and Jennings appeared at 12 o'clock the quartet were still in jail, but when they returned an hour later the birds had flown. The door leading into the corridor, the only door by which one can enter the bastille, was off its hinges, and stood ajar at the wrong side. The space between the door and wall was just large enough to admit of a man passing out, although it was no trouble to push it farther back. The door had been put on originally with three iron strips or hinges perhaps 16 inches in length bolted through from the outside. On the inner side of the door these were held by small burrs, and they had been unscrewed. Then the bolts were pushed back through the door and the door was loose from all support except the hasp, and the padlock which held it on the staple in the hallway. The burrs were scattered about the floor and there were marks on the wood as if heavy blows had been struck to test its thickness. The door is of heavy wood covered on the outside with sheet iron and is consequently hard to handle, but they did it without noise.

The escape was evidently well planned. The door had no doubt been hanging with the burrs loosened long before the prisoners escaped as they waited for the proper time after they had completed their work. It could have been done only with a wrench or stout nippers, and where they got the tool is a mystery. Suspicion rests on the young woman to whom Carman is engaged. Her name is not known at city hall, but she has been lingering about since his arrest, crying for his release. Yesterday at noon when Chief Gill went to the jail he found her behind the door talking to Carman. Who admitted her is not known. Officers Earle and Jennings say they did not let her in. At any rate, she did not wait as usual when she left city hall. Instead she smiled and hurried away and Chief Gill marvelled. The officers are inclined to think somebody furnished a wrench from the outside, dropping it through the grating. There are other theories. Hastings is a slick looking youth and Brown is the man who broke out of the same jail with Link Doyle several months ago. Mrs. Joseph Prosser was also a visitor yesterday, but Officer Earle saw that she gave her husband nothing but cigars. Later Prosser paid part of his fine and was released upon giving security for the balance. Chief Gill found a small saw blade in the jail but it had not been used, as all of the prisoners were allowed in the corridor. The chief had the hinges fixed and the ends of the bolts were pounded so that the burrs cannot now be removed. Another rule of not allowing a gang in the corridor will be enforced as will a rule of allowing no visitors in the jail unless with Chief Gill's permission. There is no clue to the whereabouts of the four men. Mayor Gilbert is keeping his eye open for them in Steubenville, and telegrams have been sent out.

READY FOR LABOR DAY

Trades Council is Making Preparations.

COMMITTEES WERE APPOINTED

At a Well Attended Meeting Last Night, and Men Who Know What They are Doing Will Make the Arrangements—Speakers and Athletic Events Promised.

There was a good attendance at Trades council last night, and the business on hand was quickly disposed of. The plan to observe Labor Day by a big celebration was enthusiastically received, and committees were appointed to look after the arrangements. A committee of seven was selected to decide upon the general outlines of the event, and arrange for the grounds. Although they will not meet and decide until Saturday, it is generally accepted that a monster parade, in which all the unions in town will take part, is among the leading features. If possible there will be a picnic with speakers and athletics. Events by the dozen will be passed through. It is expected to make this last an important feature, since some of the fastest wheelmen and best athletes in the city are members of the various unions. The committees will begin work at once, and will push matters until they are all ready. All the men selected have had more or less experience in this sort of thing, and no effort will be spared to make the celebration the greatest day of its character ever seen in the city. It will be advertised far and wide, and thousands of people from other points along the river are expected, since there will be no other big events within easy reach of Liverpool on that day.

THE UNTRIFIED.

They Told Each Other How It Was Last Night.

The convention of the Democrats at city hall last night was the same old gathering. There were no new faces there, only the faithful who have always voted the ticket and always will in spite of argument or persuasion. These delegates to the county convention were chosen: J. C. Deldrick, J. J. Weisend, C. A. Ferguson, John W. Moore, M. E. McKail, J. W. Tracy, William Thomas, Joseph Reilly, Robert Hill, T. J. Thomas; alternates, Pat McCollough, John Kerr, William Smith, J. S. Weaver, James Fox, William Morrow, Dennis Hickey, A. Solomon, J. L. Deldrick and George Smith. The following resolutions were presented and passed:

Resolved, That the Democracy of East Liverpool, in convention assembled, advocates adherence to the time-honored principles of Jefferson, by declaring in favor of the coinage of both gold and silver at a parity, with one dollar worth a dollar and good for its face value at home and abroad.

Resolved, That we favor the levying of such custom duties as are necessary to defray the expenses of the government economically administered; the higher duties on articles of luxury, and the lower on those of necessity.

Resolved, That the efforts of the Republican party to place elections under military control through the "force bill" was a menace to the fundamental principles of our government, and that it is unsafe to trust such a party with the control of our public affairs.

The entire committee appointed last spring was confirmed. One of the little events of the evening was the row over the money question in which the flow of language almost paralyzed the rank and file in the lobby, and showed the hopeless split. The local gang had things all cut and dried, and had it their own way.

SOLVED A MYSTERY.

Why Street Car Windows are Always Dirty.

A resident asked a reporter to call attention to the fact today that he had seen a street car window that was clean, and he had almost fainted with surprise. There is some excuse for dirty windows, which the company cannot overcome unless cuspidors are placed in the cars. A rule does not allow spitting on the floor, and passengers chewing tobacco frequently spit behind the seats. As the windows are down these hot days, the glass soon becomes streaked and dirty.

ANNUAL CLEANING.

Orders Have Been Issued In Pittsburg Against Shanty Boats.

The annual cleaning out of shanty boats will take place in Pittsburg next week, and some of those who will find themselves with nothing but a room to cover their heads will probably drop down the river to towns between Pittsburg and Wheeling. In that event, Liverpool will likely get her share. In the main the shanty boat population of Pittsburg is by no means a desirable addition to any town.

Notice Joseph Bros' show window. You will see exhibited stylish suits at $6.66 that are worth $9, $10, $11 and $12.

A Great Contest.

Pitching horse shoes has become quite a pastime in East Liverpool, and some of the participants are remarkably skillful, winning out with "leaners" and "ringers" with a precision which is simply wonderful. One of the special games of the season was indulged in yesterday afternoon, in front of Howard Kerr's bicycle headquarters, in rear of George C. Murphy's clothing house. Harry Cochran and Homer West were opposed to John Morton and an unknown, the latter hailing from the rural districts, where the daisies and dandelion send out their delicious fragrance upon the breezes. The three first named contestants are daisies indeed, in their knowledge of the curves, inshoots and various intricacies of the game, while the unknown was and is a dandy lion in his daring and superb play, placing "ringers" over "leaners," and "leaners" upon "leaners," in a manner which brought sorrow, humiliation and discomfiture to his opponents. It was a great contest and won unstinted applause from a large crowd of deeply interested spectators.

PROGRESS.

People who get the greatest degree of comfort and real enjoyment out of life, are those who make the most of their opportunities. Quick perception and good judgment, lead such promptly to adopt and make use of those refined and improved products of modern inventive genius which best serve the needs of their physical being. Accordingly, the most intelligent and progressive people are found to employ the most refined and perfect laxative to regulate and tone up the stomach, liver, and bowels, when in need of such an agent—hence the great popularity of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are made from the purest, most refined and concentrated vegetable extracts, and from forty-two to forty-four are contained in each vial, which is sold at the same price as the cheaper made and more ordinary pills found in the market. In curative virtues, there is no comparison to be made between them and the ordinary pills, as any one may easily learn by sending for a free sample, (four to seven doses) of the Pellets, which will be sent on receipt of name and address on a postal card.

ONCE USED THEY ARE ALWAYS IN FAVOR. The Pellets cure biliousness, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, constiveness, or constipation, sour stomach, loss of appetite, coated tongue, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, "heart-burn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred disorders of the liver, stomach and bowels. Put up in glass vials, therefore always fresh and reliable. One little "Pellet" is a laxative, two are mildly cathartic. As a "dinner pill," to promote digestion, take one each day after dinner. To relieve distress from over-eating, they are unequalled. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules; any child will readily take them. Accept no substitute that may be recommended to be "just as good." It may be better for the dealer, because of paying him a better profit, but he is not the one who needs help. Address for free sample, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

TRAINROBBER SUSPECTS ARRESTED. They Are Thought to Have Held Up the Train Near Toledo.

TOLEDO, July 25.—Five men are under arrest at Wauseon on suspicion of being connected with the holdup of the Lake Shore train at Reece station. The detectives refuse to state what evidence there is against them. The robbers, who were six in number, did not secure over $150. The train was approaching a switch to allow another train to pass. When some distance from the switch the engineer of the express saw it was turned, displaying the red light, and as he turned on the airbrakes, several shots were fired at the cab. One of the shots put out the headlight. When the train stopped, four robbers went to the express car, in charge of Messenger C. B. Nettlesman of Buffalo, and ordered him to open the door and come out. Nettlesman refused and the robbers threatened to blow up the car. He then came out.

POLICE COURT.

A Drunk and Disorderly and Some Fighters Fined.

Officer Earl arrested Mack Jackson on College street last night, for being drunk and disorderly and using profane and vulgar language. He gave security for $9.60.

"Chongey" Carragher and "Tally" Russell gave security for $6.66 each for fighting.

Charles Trotter, Cy Hanselman's companion, paid his fine of $6.66 and went home yesterday.

Cure for Headache. As a remedy for all forms of headache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. Large bottles only 50 cents at Pott's drug store.

Many Drunks. For some unknown reason there were many drunks on the streets last night. Several were seen who annoyed no one, but one troublesome chap in the West End was spoiling for a fight until someone took him home. Another was about to stop a woman on West Market street, when he was roughly caught by a friend and taken away.

THE ARENA AT DALLAS

Only Second to the Coliseum in Seating Capacity.

WHERE CORBETT MAY MEET "FITZ"

The Arena Will Seat Over Fifty-two Thousand People, and President Stuart Expects to See It Well Filled Oct. 31—Will the Law Land a Knockout Blow?

If the law of the Lone Star State does not succeed in landing a decisive left hand hook or an uppercut James J. Corbett, the champion heavyweight fistie artist of the universe, and Robert Fitzsimmons, the world's middleweight champion, will meet Oct. 31 to settle the momentous question whether one or the other is the better man in a boxing argument. Incidentally the two big pugilists will also decide which shall enjoy the pleasure of stowing away $61,000 in his inside pocket.

The Florida Athletic club has hung up a $41,000 purse for the contest, and each boxer has bucked himself for the additional sum of $10,000. The president and treasurer of the club is Dan A. Stuart, a well known sporting man of Dallas, and its manager is Joseph H. Vendig, known to many thousands of horsemen the country over as "Circular" Joe Vendig, the betting commissioner of Turfman Michael F. Dwyer. The proposed scene of the battle, Dallas, has been chosen for the reason that the Texas sporting men who are backing the enterprise are of the opinion that there is no law in the Lone Star State prohibiting boxing for the championship of the world and $61,000 coin of the realm. The attorney general of the state, on the other hand, seems to believe that the proposed fight is to be a prize fight and that prize fights are illegal in Texas.

Undeterred, however, by the opinion of the attorney general, President Stuart and Manager Vendig are making the necessary arrangements for the contest and are preparing to erect in Dallas the largest amphitheater ever built in America. The proposed building is octagonal in form and is simply a mammoth circus tent of wood. Despite its double row of windows, it is but one story high, and tiers of seats rise gradually until the topmost ones approach the roof. The most remarkable thing about the arena is its seating capacity. There are 635 press seats near the ring, 2,606 box seats, 17,688 reserved seats and 31,896 unreserved seats—a grand total of 52,845.

The architect who planned this mammoth structure declares that the building is the largest arena mentioned in modern or ancient history since the days of Titus, the Roman emperor, who completed the Coliseum or Flavian amphitheater A. D. 80 and had a great number of gladiators and several thousand wild beasts butchered to make a Roman holiday when it was dedicated. This is the same Roman gentleman who failed to perform a single act of beneficence one day and was so stung by remorse that he exclaimed, "My friends, I have lost a day."

The Coliseum is the largest permanent structure of the kind ever built and could and did accommodate 80,000 spectators whenever the Corbett and Fitzsimmons of the time ceased talking for publication long enough to meet in the arena and do

A little actual fighting. The heavy hand of time has landed full many a jab and swing on the Coliseum, but it is yet to be seen in Rome, slightly disfigured, but still in the ring.

On paper at least the Dallas arena is a close second to the old Coliseum of the Eternal City, and the morning of the fight the promoters of the great enterprise hope to see every one of the 52,845 seats occupied by people whose rich sporting blood will have led them to flock to Dallas from all parts of the United States, to say nothing of Mexico and Canada. Dallas hotel keepers also anticipate a host of visitors, and as sporting men always spend money with prodigal liberality the business men of the enterprising city are of the opinion that a great deal of ready cash will be left in Dallas by the devotees of fistiana.

According to the census of 1890 Dallas is the largest city in Texas. In that year it had a population of 38,067, and the five years that have passed have materially increased the number. The city is a great railroad center, a market for the cotton and holds high rank as a distributing center. The state fair will open in Dallas Oct. 19 and continue until Nov. 13, and the battle between Corbett and Fitzsimmons will be one of the city's big drawing cards during the continuance of the fair. Last season over 100,000 people attended the fair, and President Stuart is confident that the fistie argument between Pompadour Jim and the Australian will cause Dallas to fairly overflow with visitors the coming October.

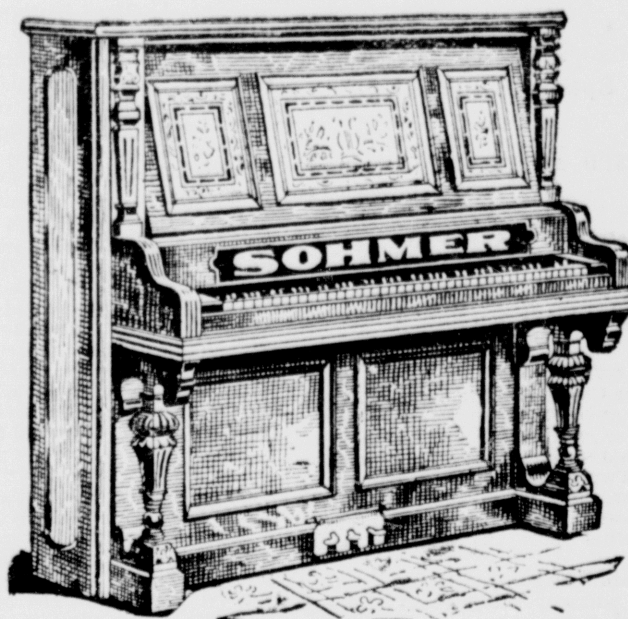

One of the peculiar features about the law covering prize fighting in Texas is the fact that it denounces the offense as a felony and adds the punishment of a misdemeanor. The act is also indefinitely framed, according to the athletic club's attorneys, and permits of such doubtful construction that it cannot be understood and enforced. Attorney General Crane, however, seems to think the law is plain enough and has instructed the sheriff of Dallas county to see that it is enforced.

Ten dollars has been fixed upon as the price of the cheapest seats. The next come at $20 and the boxes are $40. If the seats should all be sold the gross receipts should amount to nearly $800,000. This is a trifle more than Mue. Patti ever realized from a single concert. Stuart is not a dreamer however. He'll be satisfied if 8,600 sports buy tickets.

The principals in the proposed battle are seemingly confident they will be permitted to meet in the great Dallas arena and are both doing light training. Corbett has a cottage at Loch Arbor, N. J., near Asbury Park, where he trained for his victories over John L. Sullivan and Charley Mitchell, and will remain there doing comparatively light work until a few weeks before the contest, when he will leave for the south to finish getting fit. He plays handball, boxes, wrestles, swims, rides a bicycle and scours the surrounding country on horseback accompanied by his favorite collies and by a pack of hounds belonging to his partner, William A. Brady. His intimates say that he is in such excellent physical condition that he could put up the fight of his life with two weeks more of training.

Fitzsimmons, the conqueror of Jack Dempsey, Peter Maher, Joe Choynski, Dan Creedon and other good men, is getting fit at a Coney Island cottage. He, too, is in excellent condition and is taking good care of himself. He is confident that he can whip Corbett and is without doubt one of the most formidable men ever pitted against the champion.

TWO FIGHTS ARRANGED.

The Ryan-Smith Match Clinched—Lavigne and Handler Will Fight.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The papers in the Ryan-Smith match have been signed at the Gilsey House. The noted welterweights will meet at Dallas, Tex., after the Corbett-Fitzsimmons battle, for a purse of $5,000. The weight is to be 142 pounds, weigh in eight hours previous to entering the ring. Messrs. Davies and Wescott posted $500 each to guarantee the appearance of the men.

While those arrangements were in progress another important match was being made at the Coleman. Sam Fitzpatrick, manager of Kid Lavigne, and Fred Voight, for Jimmy Handler, and a number of other followers of pugilism, met and arranged a match between those noted lightweight. It is to be 25 rounds at 135 pounds, four weeks from signing articles and before the club offering the largest purse.

They Want Pay Semi-Monthly.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., July 25.—Five hundred miners, at a secret meeting, have decided to ask the Union Coal company to pay them semi-monthly. The company contends that the law is unconstitutional, and in case the miners' request is not complied with, the state officials will be asked to enforce the law. Fifty-thousand men are directly interested in the outcome.
